

Help us invest in the future of Wisconsin's rural youth

Strengthening Wisconsin's rural communities has always been central to the mission of the UW-Madison College of Agricultural and Life Sciences (CAL S). To carry out that mission, we want to continue to bring bright students from rural Wisconsin to CAL S and provide them the necessary skills to become future leaders in fields related to agriculture, food, health, energy and the environment.

CAL S recognizes that affordability is a challenge for rural youth. As tuition increases and the availability of financial assistance becomes more limited, CAL S and the UW Foundation have created the Wisconsin Rural Youth Scholarship Fund to address this challenge.

■ The fund will help rural youth become leaders in fields that are central to their communities: food and agriculture, health, energy and the environment.

■ The goal is to provide financial assistance to undergraduate students from Wisconsin who meet specific requirements of rural background, merit and financial need.

■ Assistance is targeted at students in rural Wisconsin high schools.

■ Gifts to the Wisconsin Rural Youth Scholarship will be matched dollar-for-dollar by the CAL S Deans' Office while challenge funds last.
